

Great Danes

CELEBRITY CHAISE
Showcased in countless fashion layouts, retro films and music videos, the Erik Jørgensen 1964 Corona (above) is the chair of choice among hipsters, celebrities and swingers alike.

- Erik Jørgensen photo

GET CRACKIN'
Designed in 1956, Arne Jacobsen's Egg chair (right) is perhaps the most iconic, if not most ripped off, Danish export.

- Arne Jacobsen photo

YOU GOTTA GIVE CREDIT TO THOSE DANES: THEY KNOW DESIGN.

From the legendary Erik Jørgensen to the innovative FermLiving, Danish designers continue to influence the rest of the world with their modern, stylish and functional approach to home décor. Which could explain why Denmark, a country of just over five million people, boasts a whopping $3.2 billion annual furniture industry. And the infamous Egg and Corona chairs are only half the story. To get the full picture of why all things Danish rule, check out the "Danish Way of Living" exhibition on the street level in Gastown's old Storyeum site (142 Water St.) Thursday to Saturday 12 p.m. - 6 p.m. from now until Dec 15. Free admission.

- Sarah Rowland, 24 hours

GOOD WOOD
Made from birch plywood, the Arch90 Twins (above) are a great example of why Midform is fast becoming the leading authority on shaped veneers.

- Midform photo

FYI - There is a caption underneath the wallpaper which reads, "STICK IT TO 'EM : Tapping into the no-bare-wall-space-will-be-tolerated trend, FermLiving's wallpaper and its artisan wall stickers are two of the hottest things in interior design right now."